

I was a visitor in 1993, and came to Barcelona just to see the Sagrada Familia. The building has called to me since my discovery of it in 1991. I am now 60 and hoping to see the Sagrada Familia again before I die. 2026 is a long way from now and I am in poor health. Thank God I have the pictures to watch the progress. I had the honor of meeting Josep Subirachs while he was working on the passion facade. The pictures of the inside are just breath taking. I have so many questions about (what is next) for the the greatest building on Earth.
