

I think this is a really good way of measuring your performance against the wider environment on a budget, however if you're lucky enough to have a hitwise account then I'd recommend using that as it's quicker and much more accurate.