

We have frequently found the RMNs sound asleep. They are looking after the most dangerous patients in the ward; how can it be? This is quite common. Nurses operate a one sleeping and one working on night shift. This is why you can never find a nurse at night. The Quality Care Commission rarely inspects during the night.