

Possibly it would be possible over a long period of time, but I imagine it would take a few hundred years. Even with selectively breeding the largest and strongest of the beetles and the relatively fast reproduction rate of most beetles. But seriously, how awesome would that be?!Myself