

I just found the comment section of this blog. I thought that when prompted to leave a comment, I should go to the poems of my colleagues and comment; so I did some of that, too. Thank you so much, Victoria, for the prompt, for Ellen's flickerings, and for your reading and response to "Going Back" on my poetry blog. You have a generous soul.